POWDER AND SHOT,
For sale by H. W. CORBETT & CO.

FROM CANYON CITY.

The Mountaineer publishes the following:

The stage from Canyon City, owing to the snow blocking up the road, did not arrive last week until Saturday. Mr. F. McBean had his feet slightly frozen. The following are a few items that we have been able to pick up from that locality:

At an election of officers of Blue Mountain Lodge, I. O. O. F., the following gentlemen were chosen for the ensuing term: Fred. Winegar, N. G.; Fred. Adams, V. G.; T. W. Poindexter, R. S.; N. Rulison, P. S.; W. J. Mc Namara, T.

The ball given by the Good Templars on Christmas eve, was largely attended and passed off very pleasantly.

Good reports continue to be received from Willow Creek; new discoveries being made every day.

At Canyon City times are dull; everything is froze up, and the snow there is about four inches deep.

The county has purchased the building in the rear of the French hotel, for court house and county offices. Price, $2,700.

Trouble for Turkey.

The Alta remarks: Turkey is threatened by another insurrection more dangerous than that of Crete. A Servian was lately killed on board of a Danubian steamer by order of the Pacha of Bulgaria, and the local Servian Government has demanded the punishment of the Pacha. The demand was peremptorily refused, and the Servians threaten revolution. They are Slavonians in blood and language, with no attachment for Turkey; but the leading families have hitherto used their influence in favor of the Sultan because they feared that they would be governed by officers sent from St. Petersburg if they were under the dominions of the Czar. But of late years Panslavonic emissaries have been at work among the common people, and many of them now are anxious to belong to the Panslavonic Empire. There are 7,000,000 Slavonians in Northern Turkey, and as they are a decided majority of the population, they have only to make a serious effort, and even without the assistance of Russia, they could establish their independence. But the Czar is ready and anxious to aid them. Lately he sent a note of advice to the Sublime Porte about Crete and the reply was that the Sultan could attend to his own affairs. With Crete in rebellion, Greece threatening to declare war, Servia on the point of insurrection, Russia encouraging all three, and France and England indifferent about the future of the balance of power, the reign of the Crescent in Europe seems to be drawing to a close. Well, it is time. The 1,200,000 persons of Turkish blood west of the Bosphorus have not only held their own for four centuries, but as late as two hundred years ago seemed to threaten the overthrow of Christianity itself, and, in the time of Philip the Second, their fleet was little inferior to those of Spain and Venice united, and either was considered more than a match at sea for either France or England in those days. But time has changed, the Crescent has outlived its usefulness, and its antiquity will gradually decline as its believers grow more enlightened.

SIGNIFICANT SIMILES.—A grotesque simile is sometimes very expressive. We may mention those of Daniel Webster, who likened the word "would," in Rufus Choate's handwriting, to a small gridiron struck by lightning; of a sailor, who likened a gentleman whose face was covered with whiskers up to his very eyes, to a rat peeping out of a bunch of oakum; of a Western reporter who, in a weather item on a cold day, said that the suns rays, in the effort to thaw the ice, were as futile as the dull reflex of a painted yellow dog; and of a conductor who, in a discussion as to speed, said that the last time he ran his engine from Syracuse the telegraph poles on the side looked like a fine tooth comb.

Similes of a like character are often heard among the common people, and are supposed to be the peculiar property of Western orators. Instances: As sharp as the little end of nothing; big as all out doors; it strikes me like a thousand of bricks; slick as grease or as greased lightning; melancholy as a Quaker meeting by moonlight; flat as a flounder; quick as a wink; not enough to make gruel for a sick grasshopper; not clothes enough to wad a gun; as limp and limber an india-rubber store-pipe; uneasy as a cat in a strange garret; not strong enough to haul a broiled codfish off a gridiron; after you like a rat terrier after a chipmunk squirrel; useless as whistling psalms to a dead horse; no more than a grasshopper wants an apron; don't make the difference of the shake of a frog's tail; soul bobbing up and down in the bosom like a porpoise in a pond of red hot grease; enthusiasm boils over like a bottle of ginger pop; as impossible to penetrate his head as to bore through Mont Blanc with a boiled carrot; as impossible as to ladle the ocean dry with a clam shell; or suck the Gulf of Mexico through a goose quill; or to stuff butter in a wild cat with a hot awl; or for a shad to swim up a liberty pole with a fresh mackerel under each arm; or for a cat to run up a stove pipe with a tessel tied to her tail; or for a man to lift himself over a fence by the straps of his boots.

GREENBACKS NOT TAXABLE.—Some time ago, in reply to a correspondent, it was stated in our columns that by terms of an explanatory section in one of the acts of Congress providing a loan bill, the legal tender notes—greenbacks—were not taxable. Judge Storer has recognized the force of that section in his decision of the case, wherein effort was made to compel Messrs. Faran and McLean to place $30,000 of their means, alleged to be in greenbacks, on the tax duplicate. He has declared that the exemption claimed was legal. This presents an interesting point for those persons to dispose of who have declared themselves opposed to government bonds because of their being not taxable under State authority, and who would have those bonds converted into currency. Another interesting fact is also presented in the same connection that those who are hostile to national bank note currency must recognize, which is, that if three hundred millions of legal tenders are substituted for national bank notes, as the law now stands, there will be the same amount—$300,000,000—withdrawn from taxation under State laws. In other words, the national bank notes now afford an indirect means of taxing the bonds that secure them, in addition to the specific tax of one per cent. that is laid upon those notes by the government.

The bank notes are a taxable property wherever found, but the legal tenders and national bonds are not; consequently, unless the law exempting the latter two classes of property should be changed, it might not be so profitable a matter for tax payers to substitute greenbacks for greybacks.—Cincinnati Commercial.

THE CURSE OF POVERTY.—That class of moralists who keep preaching against what they term luxury, and harping on its evil effects on a nation, we commend the following extract from an address of Mr. George Dawson, at Birmingham:

Poverty was a blessing, but it was a blessing to the character, to the spirit, to the soul; and it must be remembered that no one could receive the blessing who had not the soul for it; and, therefore, while the wise man might make a blessing out of poverty, it was to most men a curse, a burden, a punishment, a hindrance, a nuisance and an infliction. For a nation poverty was a curse, whatever it may be in individual cases, for what did it mean for a nation? It meant childhood unblessed by birth or by education; it meant womanhood worn down by early cares and premature sorrows; it meant manhood toiling, and doing nothing but toiling, with the imagination down pressed, the love of beauty impossible, the man turned into a drudge, with no time for this life's beauties, and little time to think of the next world's joys. It meant all this, and more; and therefore, when he heard a man talking of the blessings of poverty, he wished that that man might enjoy them.

The many friends of the late General Meagher will be glad to learn that his widow is worth some $100,000, the result of lucky investments by her husband in mining interests in Montana.

Count Louis Arco Steppelberg, Director of the People's Theatre at Munich, Bavaria, has married Mlle Oswald, a vocalist. The bride is aged 15, and the bridegroom 66.

A brother of General S. G. Burbridge shot the editor of a Kentucky paper in Covington, in an altercation over an article disparaging the General.

Philadelphia in 1732.

BY PETER S. DUPONCEAU.

Her population at that time is supposed to have amounted to about ten thousand inhabitants. The buildings parallel to the Delaware must have extended to Fourth street, and probably beyond it: history mentions a tavern situated at the corner of Third street, at an earlier date. The northern parts of the town was chiefly inhabited by Germans. The streets were more or less filled with houses, which at that time occupied more ground than they do at present, many of them having large yards and gardens, as well as back buildings; for the fashion of having kitchens under ground had not been adopted—nor, as the city advanced toward the west, were the buildings so compact as they are at present. Christ Church existed as it now stands, except the steeple, of which the foundation only was laid. The Presbyterian Church in High street, which was called Buttonwood, and was pulled down not many years ago, had existed for nearly thirty years as well as the Swedish Church, which was of an older date, and is still standing. The Friends had their meeting houses; these were plain buildings, which did not attract attention. They had also their lovely almshouse in Walnut street, still existing, and reminding us of an Eastern edifice by the garden in the middle of the area, surrounded with modest but comfortable dwellings. The old Court House on Market street, once called the Great Town House, now in possession of the watchmen and clerks of the market, had more than twenty years' existence: and the prison, with a workhouse annexed to it, was situated at the corner of Third and High streets, to which the markets then extended. The immortal State House was then in the course of building, but was not finished until the year 1735. Meanwhile, the Legislature of the Province held its sittings in private houses. Between the Schuylkill and the improved parts of the town, there were gentlemen's country seats and tracts of woodland, some of which existed so late as 1777, when the British took possession of our city, and cut down all the trees to serve as fuel for themselves and their army.

Such was the external appearance of our noble city in the year 1732. Peace and concord reigned within it, under the mild and wise administration of Governor Gordon, who had succeeded Sir William Keith. Our illustrious founder had now been dead fourteen years, but his spirit had not forsaken us. His able and faithful secretary, Logan, still had considerable influence in the affairs of the government. The manners of the people were simple, their morals pure, and literature and science held in deserved esteem. Men of genius already appeared, whose names are destined to go to posterity.

Observe that young man whom you see walking along Second street, his eyes fixed upon the ground, and his mind absorbed in contemplation. His name is Anthony Benezet. He is a native of France and a member of the Society of Friends. He resides at Germantown, where his time is devoted to the instruction of youth. Though only nineteen years of age, and though he has been but one year in the country, he is already distinguished for his sincere piety, his Christian humility, and above all, for his ardent desire for the happiness of mankind. He has seen with horror and indignation the effects of slavery, at this time existing in Pennsylvania, and is now meditating a plan for the emancipation of the Africans. To that important object he will devote the unremitting labors of a long and useful life; he will live to see those labors crowned with success, and after his death his name will long be held in veneration by successive generations; he will be numbered among the benefactors of mankind.

Not far from him you see a plain looking man, dressed in a grayish jacket, carrying in one hand a pot of white paint, and in the other a painter's brush. He is a poor glaizer by trade, and his name is Thomas Godfrey. Don't trust to his appearance, he is one of nature's own nobility. He is a profound mathematician, and for his learning is indebted to himself alone. This evening after his work is done, he will be studying the principia of the great Newton, for the understanding of which he has taught himself the Latin language, having had no other than the most common school education. By the mere force of his genius he has made an improvement in the quadrant, commonly used for taking altitudes at sea, which will be adopted by all the maratime nations, and be the means of rendering navigation easier and safer than it was before. His friend and patron, Logan, has communicated this discovery to a person in London, who, by his neglect, will suffer another to claim and obtain the honor of the invention; so that the improved instrument, which should be called Godfrey's will be known by the name of Hadley's Quadrant. Americans one day, will vindicate the honor of their ingenious countryman.

Inferior, but not mean geniuses, are also to be found in our rising city. I see Nicholas Scull, the geographer, who published the first correct map of Pennsylvania; I see Ralph, who, though he will never reach a high grade, will, nevertheless, be distinguished in England as a poet, historian, and a political writer. He was unjustly treated by the illustrious Pope, whose vanity would not suffer the little birds to sing, and showed jealousy when he ought to have bestowed encouragement and kindness. Others of lesser note might be named, who, not wanting in talents, left nothing behind by which to be remembered by posterity.

But who is he whom I see advancing with a brisk but steady pace, and who seems to be observing everything as he goes along? His dress is simple, and may be called plain; yet you can see he is no plain man; genius flashes from his eye, and intelligence beams in his countenance. He is the printer of the Pennsylvania Gazette, at the new printing office near the market. He came here a poor lad from Boston, his native place, only a few years ago, went to England, where he perfected himself in his trade, then returned here, and after serving sometime as journeyman for one Keimer, and afterward working in partnership with one Meredith, he has lately set up for himself, and his paper is fast getting the start of the old weekly Mercury, published by Andrew Bradford. The people are pleased with the moral pieces of his composition, with which his columns are enriched. He gives them good advice, as well as in the Almanac, which he publishes every year under the title of Poor Richard, the only Almanac, perhaps, that will ever be famed in after times. Young Franklin, for he is no more than twenty-six years old, is very popular among the citizens, and Philadelphia is already indebted to him for some valuable establishments

He has founded a public school, which will increase with time, and be an ornament to the city; he has, moreover, collected all the young men of talent that he could find, and with them formed an association for the promotion of useful knowledge, which will last more than forty years under the modest name of Junto, and afterward uniting itself with another body of men assembled for a similar purpose, will be known to the world as an American Philosophical Society, of which (though at that time residing in Europe) he will be chosen the first president. So much he has already done, but his career is not run. He will be the first philosopher and statesman of his age—a new but guiltless Prometheus, he will steal the celestial fire, and direct the forked lightning at his will. Europe will admire his talents, and shower upon him her scientific and literary laurels. As a statesman and a patriot he will not be less distinguished. At the end of this half century, we shall see him full of years and honors, numbered among the greatest men of our country, and his name will be handed down to posterity by the side of those of William Penn and of Washington.

Although the second and third volume of Mr. Kinglake's "History of the Crimean War" have been announced, their publication will not take place until next month, owing to the delay unavoidable in the correction of the strategic maps engraved for the work.

Garibaldi has so far recovered from his recent illness as to be considered by his medical advisers able to support the fatigue of travel, and, by permission of the Italian Government, he will immediately set out from Varignano for his home at Caprera.

The Cairo Democrat tells of a fond but abandoned husband, in Jackson county, who reconciled his bereavement at the elopement of his wife with another fellow, by accepting a hundred dollars, giving a full receipt and quit claim.

Fenianism Growing Under [illegible]

In the course of an article on "Fenianism," the Dublin Nation has the following [illegible], the spirit of which shows that the sympathy with the conspirators against English rule is not [illegible] to members of the Fenian organization, but is spreading among other portions of the Irish population. The Nation is not a Fenian organ, and is rather moderate in its tone, for fear of Government prosecution:

The expedition to Abyssinia is a trifle to English Statesmen compared with the [illegible] of the Irish difficulty. Even [illegible] in [illegible] on the Indian frontier has not so formidable a [illegible] significance. England has a bad conscience, and fears the day of retribution. Her policy of suppression has utterly failed. The Irish race can be satisfied with justice, but cannot be [illegible] by force. They have a standing point and [illegible] that England cannot touch. They are the [illegible] arm of the greatest power on earth [illegible] whose internal necessities may compel [illegible] foreign war before the storm that now [illegible] Europe has passed away—and they are at [illegible] held in check only because the [illegible] policy and a weak administration [illegible] course.

The Irish in America are a nation within a nation, with an organization and an autonomy distinct and marked. They are free, and [illegible] act, if the Administration withdraws the [illegible] that holds them back. This is the [illegible] England; for it is easy to see that this will be the issue before long. Then she has the Irish [illegible] at her own doors, and is powerless [illegible] strate the web in which she is [illegible] check the progress of the revolution. [illegible] in the dock in Green street, or in Cork, or [illegible] erick, is, by the decision of a judge and jury, [illegible] verted into an English felon, and into a [illegible] god to be enshrined in the hearts of Ir[illegible] prisoner is placed in the dock in M[illegible] before conviction, in the infamy of chains, and England fancies she is degrading [illegible] in the eyes of the respectable. She is [illegible] sifying the national feeling in the [illegible] of the moderate and wavering, and rekindling the fire that had lain hidden beneath the [illegible] ence and selfishness. Men who [illegible] the teachings of the Irish people, and [illegible] Stephens and his clique, are daily and [illegible] fired into patriotism by the conduct of the [illegible] Government and the language of the [illegible] press. They may manacle the limbs of [illegible] but they cannot chain the mind [illegible] the burning eloquence of many of the [illegible] and the manly dignity of all, is as familiar to the Irish race all over the world as the [illegible] they were lulled to rest on their [illegible]. For every felon in an English prison [illegible] men, before indifferent, have been [illegible] to the late political heresy that is rapidly [illegible] the national faith—for every link [illegible] chains of the prisoners in Manchester [illegible] hearts have beat the silent but [illegible] of resolution, and a hundred souls [illegible] to a burning sense of manly shame at this [illegible] nity offered to their race. England [illegible] itself, and evinces a total [illegible] comprehension of the nature of the [illegible] which it has to deal. It is sowing the [illegible] of disaffection, while the authorities [illegible] lopping off its most vigorous [illegible].

THE "GAMIN" IMPROVING.—The [illegible] graph devotes a long article to the [illegible] tion of the street boys of Paris and [illegible]. We make two extracts:

The gamin is beginning to wash his [illegible] and to mend the rents of his pantaloons. [illegible] does he spin his top with a [illegible] that the peg may transfix the toe of his [illegible] the sergent de ville. No more does he throw [illegible] or stones at young gentlemen returning from the Lycees, for the simple reason that [illegible] loons are not ragged. He has [illegible] to find better quarters to sleep in than the [illegible] of the plaster elephant at the Place de la B[illegible]. He can get something better to eat [illegible] two [illegible] worth of galette on the Boulevard [illegible], and one sou's worth of fried potatoes on the Pont Neuf. In process of time he may give up [illegible] "Ohi, Lambert! as tu vu Lambert?" and "Oh! n'te balle." In fact, the Paris gamin [illegible] become a very [illegible] table [illegible] and looking at the admirable, [illegible] the new boulevards or Paris have been [illegible] ized, we have little fear that Gavroche, when he attains his majority, will tear up the paving [illegible] to erect barricades, as so many [illegible] done before him.

* * * The London gamins are the [illegible] Arabs who are really caught up and [illegible] from nomads into [illegible] and who eventually become excellent citizens. They [illegible] the boot-black brigade, and attract [illegible] by the conscientious polish which they put on [illegible] and by the sedulous perusal of the [illegible] go Park, to which they [illegible] the [illegible] of polishing. They are the show-boys of the school. They emigrate, and write [illegible] home to their patrons. They go to sea, and rise to be first mates. They obtain [illegible] and warehouses. They are app[illegible] and become spruce young plumbers and [illegible]. In short, "they turn out well; and it [illegible] no more disgrace to them to have been early in life street Arabs and castaways than to have had the measles or chicken pock."

A MEDICAL FACT.—An Irish surgeon who had [illegible] and a cataract and restored the sight of a poor woman in Dublin, [illegible] in her case [illegible] be devoted a[illegible] in optics, on [illegible] he called together his professional brethren, [illegible] ing himself unequal to the solution. He [illegible] to them that the sight of his patient was so perfectly restored, that she could see to [illegible] the smallest needle, or to perform any [illegible] which required particular accuracy of [illegible]. But that when he presented her with a book, [illegible] was not capable of distinguishing one letter [illegible] another." This very singular case excited the ingenuity of all the gentlemen present, and various solutions were offered, but none could command the general assent. Doubt [illegible] on doubt, and the problem grew darker [illegible] explanation, when at length, by a question put by the servant who attended, it was discovered that the woman had never learned to read.

The Hartford Courant contains a remarkable local item, the gist of which is that a married couple in that city got into a dispute, and that the husband, to revenge himself "sprang out of bed" and seated himself "on a hot cooking stove." But this wasn't the worst of it. The stove was so hot that "the man's flesh burned on and he was unable to release himself." His cries finally brought in two men who "pulled him off the stove by main strength."

Political Rights and Social Equality.

For years past, the great agony of a political party in this country has been a fear of "negro equality." In 1860 we were told that the election of a President in opposition to the slave oligarchy would infallibly bring upon the country this dire [illegible] and [illegible]. Mr Lincoln was elected, and it was ascertained that the foundations of society remained unshaken that social usages and conventionalities were quite undisturbed by the political change. The war broke out and it [illegible] necessary to arm the blacks against their rebel masters. Again the outcry was raised that [illegible] equality was impending, that this measure [illegible] directly lead at once to that deplorable result. Two hundred thousand negro troops were armed and clad in the uniform of the United States. They fought bravely, and rendered material service to the country, yet it was found that the result of this measure was not that equality [illegible] which was so greatly dreaded. The [illegible] of slavery followed, and now the [illegible] were sure that the fatal step was [illegible]. If [illegible] were made free, what barrier [illegible] there be against the beastly doctrine of social equality between the blacks and whites? What would there be to prevent negroes from forcing themselves into the society of white people, and what could prevent that disgusting beings [illegible] marrying the fair and virtuous daughters of the land? But in spite of these fears, it turned out that emancipation did not bring about "negro equality." The next source of alarm was the civil rights act. Of course, if negroes were in [illegible] with civil rights, society would be mongrelized, and our Government sunk at once to the [illegible] level. But it was found that even the civil rights act, superadded to all the measures [illegible] was [illegible] would "negroize" the country, [illegible] not produce negro equality. Next, the elective franchise was given to the [illegible] blacks, and the fears of the [illegible] in regard to negro [illegible] to the point which they [illegible] before when the abolition of [illegible] was [illegible] upon. It will admitted now that all the [illegible] which so horrified [illegible] of people, and which they declared would lead to social equality, have failed to bring [illegible] that result. But it is held that the simple [illegible] of casting the ballot will make the negro our equal. The fact that he came from the [illegible], that he has the same eternal [illegible] he breathes the same air, looks [illegible] the same sun, has the same wants, the same [illegible], eats the same food, works in the [illegible], kneels at the same altar and is addressed to the same God,—all these things fall [illegible] him our equal; but the moment you [illegible] him a piece of paper with the name [illegible] upon it, that makes him [illegible] equal, and that moment the whole [illegible] Democratic party is in sore tribulation. And this [illegible] is continually repeated, though [illegible] to any one that the ballot has [illegible] to do with our social relations, [illegible] it is apparent that even among white [illegible] there is not and never can be anything [illegible]. Men meet as political [illegible] at the ballot box, who are mentally, morally, physically and socially unequal; and the [illegible] who talk so much about negro [illegible] themselves incomparably superior to the [illegible] of ignorant, [illegible], and [illegible] who vote the ticket of their [illegible] and are in turn [illegible] obtedly [illegible] to [illegible] who vote that ticket. There is no [illegible] in the [illegible] that the equal enjoyment of political rights can make men socially equal, and the [illegible] will cease when the person who re[illegible] the [illegible] Democratic twaddle on this subject will be a [illegible] stock for everybody.

Wisdom of a Copperhead Oracle.—A Copperhead paper informs its readers that "no man [illegible] in the war with the view of carrying out the present policy of Congress, who was not actuated by [illegible] or ambitious motives." As [illegible] of all the men who enlisted in the war on the side of the Union are in favor of carrying out the present policy of Congress, it follows that in Democratic estimation they are [illegible]," or men whose ambition is dangerous to the country. But Copperheads never did have a high opinion of our soldiers. It is so rare a thing to find a soldier who fought honorably through the war, from the highest in command to the [illegible] in the ranks, who does not support the policy of Congress, that the exceptions only confirm the general rule. Who ever met a soldier that carried a musket against the rebels, who now votes with Johnson and the Democrats? Such a case would be a phenomenon. The same Copperhead paper which makes this remark about the soldiers, says that the division of our territory which the rebels endeavored to bring about, would "in no wise have impaired the principles on which our Government is founded" As the Southern rebellion was a revolt against a constitutional [illegible], it follows that it is no violation of the principles of our Government for a [illegible] ted party to refuse to acquiesce in the result of an election and appeal to arms to maintain their revolutionary [illegible]. Such are Bartah's principles,—these extracts being drawn from the paper of which he is the "hireling" editor

Dr. McHenry, of Louisiana, proposes to unite the Missouri river with the Gulf of Mexico, by a channel beginning at Kansas City, on the Missouri, and running to a branch of the Osage, which is to be connected by a canal with the Neosho river at the falls, thence it is to run two hundred and fifty miles to Fort Gibson, on the Arkansas, and down the river to Fort Smith, then to pass around the base of the San Bois mountain into a branch of the Red river, and thence down the Red and Sabine rivers to Sabine Bay three hundred miles, and so on to the Gulf

The Record learns that the Ellendale Woolen Mills are running again and will soon start on full time, as the orders in hand will keep it busy for months to come. A flume has been constructed to bring the water needed from a near creek so that the loss of the dam across the Rickreall last month is not an irreparable damage. The dam will be rebuilt again next summer. The Salem Woolen Factory has not been running since the dry house was burned

A Lesson from England

When Great Britain was putting forth her most gigantic efforts in her wars against Napoleon, not only maintaining her own army and navy at a standard far above what they had ever before been, but also subsidizing all the nations of Europe against the conqueror it was found utterly impossible to provide by taxation, or by any of the ordinary sources of revenue for any considerable part of the requirements of the British Treasury. Immense loans were therefore effected and such was the depreciation of paper, that for every bond of £100 which was given by the Government only £60, and sometimes a smaller sum, was actually received by the Treasury. This is the method by which the bulk of the present debt of Great Britain was created. Yet no one ever heard that Great Britain was proposing to pay off her obligations by issues of depreciated paper that she ever insisted that her creditors should take back their £60 as payment for the £100 which was nominated in bond, on the ground that they would then be receiving back all they had advanced to the Government. During the stress of the war of the rebellion, the securities of our Government were as low in the market as those of Great Britain were in 1806, and the consequence was that our debt was increased in the same manner as that of England had been. We see the manner in which that country has kept its faith with those who gave it credit in time of emergent danger; can not we profit by its example?

Supreme Court Decisions

The Mountaineer of the 11th contains the following paragraphs

A few weeks ago we promised our readers that we would commence publishing the decisions of the Supreme Court. On our part, it was a small speculation, in which we expected to increase our subscription list and put money in our purse. But our hopes have all been blasted. The OREGONIAN and Herald have both promised to publish the decisions as soon as they appear in the Mountaineer. By this move we are completely check mated, for we would have all the work and trouble of setting from manuscript, making alterations and corrections, while they would have the corrected reprint to copy. There is not a lawyer in the State but takes either the OREGONIAN or Herald, and, therefore, as they promise to furnish them with the decisions, it becomes unnecessary to subscribe for the Mountaineer. Under existing circumstances, we decline publishing any more of the decisions for the present

In copying the decisions from the Mountaineer we gave it due credit; therefore we cannot see what reason it has to complain especially as nearly every issue of that paper is made up in large part from the OREGONIAN. If the reporter will furnish us the decisions, we will publish them gladly, and not complain in case the Mountaineer sees proper to copy them. We may add here that we have no intention of ceasing to publish the telegraphic and other news because the Mountaineer habitually republishes it from our paper

THE STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE.—Owing to the blockade it is probable that no considerable number of the members of the State Central Committee will be able to be present at the meeting which was called to take place to-day. It will probably be necessary to adjourn the meeting to a more favorable time, and if any of the members of the Committee are in the city, they are requested to report themselves to the Chairman.

A Personal Circumstance

A MILKMAN'S ADVENTURE.

MR. EDITOR. In attempting to make the passage of the Willamette river, from our residence in East Portland, on Saturday last, in a small skiff, in company with our esteemed friend Tim. Jones, Esq., and the vessels of milk from which our customers are supplied daily, we were caught in the floating ice, and were carried some distance down the stream. After a desperate struggle with the fields of floating ice, lasting the entire day, we at length succeeded in making fast to the ice attached to the shore. An immense concourse of our fellow citizens, probably not less than ten thousand in number, observed us from the shore, but made no efforts for our rescue. At length we succeeded in getting ashore, thankful to escape from our perilous situation. On landing we were too much exhausted with our efforts to water our milk for that day. Our adventure was a most wonderful one, and our perilous exploits during the day well deserve to be recorded, and yet it was too small an affair to attract the attention of the enterprising local reporters of the daily press, to the exclusion of the antics of the boys on the ice, therefore being a modest man, we call attention to it at this late day only in order that we may not miss the opportunity of bringing ourself into public notice and asserting our belief that we are a very important personage in this community. As our poor ingenuity was quite exhausted in devising ways of talking about ourself, we could not afford to lose this opportunity. Believing that our motives will be appreciated, we content ourself for for the present with this explanation.

The Milkman.

EASTERN OREGON.

The following letter, dated Warm Springs, January 7th, is from the Mountaineer.

Since my last communication I have been to the valley of the Ochoco. I expected to find a small tract of land lying along the banks of some little mountain stream and about enough of it for some fifteen or twenty families to find home upon, but instead, I found the Ochoco valley to be a large and fertile one, with innumerable little valleys opening into it, and room for hundreds of farms. And taken into connection with the valleys on Crooked river, into which the Ochoco opens, there is as much farming land as in Benton county, Oregon.

I have been over Boise and Platte valleys, and have no hesitation in saying that there is more tillable land in Ochoco and Crooked river valleys than there is in both of the others

The valley is covered with tall rye grass, and viewed from the hills, looks like one great oat field, while the hills have an abundance of bunch grass upon them

Juniper trees can be had within one half mile from any farm, and will have to be used for fire wood, while fir or pine can be obtained within eight miles of the most distant farm, and generally within two miles of the valley, all the way down. Deer and beaver are very plenty, while prairie chickens and grouse are abundant. The cayotes are very numerous at present, but by the use of powder they can soon be exterminated

There are at present six men wintering there. Mr. Burkhart, one of the most influential and wealthy citizens of Oregon, is among them. Mr Burkhart came to Oregon in 1846, and has seen Oregon raise from a barren waste to her present proud position. The following named gentlemen are also old pioneers of Oregon—and men that any country should be proud to own, viz Mr Barnes, Mr. Burkhart, jr, Mr Smith, Mr Ciapool and Mr. White. They have made several thousand rails and built three houses, but only occupy two of them on account of fear of the Snake Indians. They are well armed and would prove a match for any band of Snakes that are liable to attack.

There was a party of four men with me. They all located claims and expect to return there early next spring

The climate is very pleasant. The Indians say snow falls during the night but goes off the next day. Snow fell while I was there to the depth of about two inches, but was gone in less than half a day after falling, while the snow has been about six inches deep at this Agency during the same time. The road will always be passable by going around by Crooked river. We went an old Indian trail over a spur of the Blue mountains and thus made a cut-off of about ten miles. Coming home we found the snow very deep on these mountains, but managed to come through it

The distance from here to the Ochoco valley by the trail is near forty five miles, and by the Klamath and Lebanon roads, about fifty five miles. From Albany, Oregon to Ochoco valley, by the Lebanon road, the distance is just one hundred and forty miles

All famous Americans are claimed by foreign lands. The latest instance is Mrs Lincoln, whom some one in England remembers as a girl there and recalls the circumstances of her coming to this country

Capt David Hinkley of Livermore Maine died about a month ago, aged 102 years. He voted for Washington for the first President, and remembered Arnold's expedition up the Kennebec river

VIENNA Jan 12.—Dispatches from the south indicate that the Porte is about to pursue a liberal policy.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 14.—The Eisner inquest was concluded last night. The jury disagreed as to the person in whose hands the pistol was when it was fired. Mr. Robitschek has been arrested on charge of murdering Eisner, but is allowed to remain at his rooms in custody of officers, who will retain him until his bail is forthcoming

Chief Crowley decided against all the removals from the police force at the recent meeting of the Commissioners, and it is understood that a test case will be carried into the court, to ascertain whether the exercise of power as a commissioner, by Judge Provines, is constitutional. The decision of this question will determine the validity of the late removals and appointments. It is the opinion of many good constitutional lawyers that the police judge cannot legally exercise other than his strictly judicial powers

The charge of arson preferred against Miss Maria Palmer several months ago has finally been dismissed by consent of the prosecution on condition that Miss Palmer should leave the State which she did by the last steamer

[illegible] FROM THE DALLES.—Mr. T. H. Cann, Wells, Fargo & Co's messenger, arrived about half past two o'clock yesterday afternoon, from the Dalles, bringing letters from Dalles, Boise and other towns east of the mountains. He left the Dalles Saturday morning in company with Mr. Blakely the O. S. N. Co's mail carrier, and the two were overtaken on the way by two other men who bore them company the remainder of the trip. The [illegible] express had not arrived when Mr. Cann started, [illegible]. He represents the trail as, in places totally impracticable, on account of snow and ice. Those who have travelled [illegible] that for miles it is cut [illegible] the mountain [illegible] the acclivity is not less than forty-five [illegible] from a level. The snow had filled the cut so as to [illegible] all traces of the trail; the snow was frozen over with a solid crust, and the only possible way to follow the trail was to dig away the snow and ice. This of [illegible] could not be done by the [illegible] as it would [illegible] too much time. In places [illegible] no other course was possible, they dug out the trail with axes and picks; but in many places, they made no attempt to follow it, [illegible] to cut their way through the underbrush and [illegible] the bottom lands and [illegible] of the mountain's [illegible]. Thus, for a considerable portion of the way, they literally cut their way through; and [illegible] the distance [illegible] hundred and fourteen miles the accomplishment of the trip in three and a half days, exhibits a degree of enterprise, activity and endurance [illegible] found. Mr. Cann says that after carrying the express for ten or [illegible] years and having never failed on a single trip, he had not on this [illegible] the least idea of failure. The party [illegible] on the Hood river mountain about four feet of snow, the deepest [illegible]. In [illegible] the passage of the sloughs which are [illegible] the [illegible], they experienced the [illegible] of the trip. The ice was [illegible], not always safe, and the horses could be driven across only with [illegible]. One of the horses broke through at one place and the party had to cut and break away the ice for about thirty feet [illegible] could be got out. Mr. Cann [illegible] that the Columbia river [illegible] at the Dalles on the 4th inst. On the 6th, the thermometer indicated five [illegible] below zero, and afterward stood at or near zero for a [illegible]. When he left the Dalles, the weather was several degrees warmer, and the party experienced no severe cold on the trip.

[illegible] OF TREASURE.—Mr. S. B. Briggs, Agent at this [illegible] Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, has kindly furnished us the following statement of their treasure exports for the year 1867:

Jan[illegible]	$275,000	July	$530,000
Feb[illegible]	125,000	August	425,000
March	160,000	September	420,000
April	165,000	October	440,000
May	160,000	November	415,000
June	450,000	December	456,000
	$1,335,000		$2,664,000

Total for the year $4,001,000

The exports by this company for the year 1866, amounted to $5,400,000
For the year 1865 5,800,000
For the year 1864 ....6,2[illegible]0,000

The falling off during the last year as compared with [illegible] years is [illegible] for by the fact that the [illegible] part of the [illegible] from [illegible], has [illegible] by the Co.'s [illegible] via the Humboldt route. It does not [illegible] that the mines of Eastern [illegible] and Washington Territory have been less productive than in former years. The fact probably is that the two [illegible] have contributed as large or larger sums than during the year '64, '65 and '66, [illegible] from this city were so much larger than now. If we add to these exports of 1867, the [illegible] from time to time by private shippers, and those [illegible] in private hands, we shall have a [illegible] less than $5,000,000, which is really a better [illegible] for the mines of Oregon and Washington Territory [illegible] in any previous year.

[illegible].—By the [illegible] which arrived yesterday from the Dalles, we have the Mountaineer of the 11th, [illegible] clip the following items: The steamer [illegible], Capt. McNulty, failed to reach her wharf in this city on Monday evening, on [illegible] of the large amount of ice running in the river, and was compelled to put into [illegible], where she now lies. [illegible] for the [illegible] and express will be [illegible] overland, both up and down the river......The [illegible] at one o'clock, P. M., stood at 12 degrees above zero. We are [illegible] by Dr. Jackson [illegible] Esq., County C[illegible] of [illegible], is lying very ill at his [illegible] on Fifteen [illegible], with very little [illegible] of recovery......We [illegible] that the snow, at [illegible], is not deep [illegible] to do [illegible] harm to cattle, [illegible] well......For the past [illegible] of the Dalles have been [illegible] and skating. The [illegible] is excellent, [illegible]. The [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] the ice not [illegible]. The river is com[illegible] over and no [illegible] to boat [illegible]. Mr. H[illegible], Wells, F[illegible] & Co.'s [illegible] with the [illegible] for [illegible]. Mr. Cann left for Portland this morning. The [illegible] will leave here for Boise and intermediate points tri-weekly, and for Portland once a week. The U. S. Mail for Portland left this [illegible] all [illegible] both ways and it is [illegible] time hereafter.

[illegible] ANOTHER WRECK FROM.—The nearest any [illegible] to hearing of the [illegible] Oriflamme is as follows: A man [illegible] we met on the street said he understood that somebody had heard that Mr. Weidler, the [illegible], had been told by a man from Springville that another man who came up [illegible] day from St. Helens had seen a man who had heard that the Oriflamme had [illegible] at and is now tied up to the [illegible] at Tide [illegible] a few miles below St. Helens. But as the telegraph is in working order to Monticello, [illegible], and the telegraph people have [illegible] of the steamer having passed up, and as the river is known to be [illegible] with ice below Martin's [illegible], and, finally, as the story is decidedly a [illegible], we advise people not to invest their bottom dollar on its reliability.

[illegible].—We [illegible] with sincere [illegible] last evening, that Mr. W. P. Dobson who was [illegible] injured by falling down a flight of stairs last [illegible] evening, was [illegible] rapidly and that his recovery was thought to be [illegible]. Up to Monday [illegible] his broken leg had not given him much pain and it [illegible] he was [illegible]. [illegible], however, after having [illegible] had retired, he [illegible] but he was [illegible] as if from some internal hurt, [illegible] was sent for. [illegible] that medical skill could [illegible], he continued [illegible] and we learn that the [illegible] that the [illegible] until [illegible]. Mr. D[illegible] the conviction that [illegible] die.

[illegible] THE MAILS.—Just now, the [illegible] of carrying the mails is not quite as pleasant as resting on [illegible] beds of ease [illegible] not by any [illegible]. The carrier [illegible] ground, [illegible] ice, and [illegible] "across lots" and a few thousand other [illegible] to deal with. The Record says, "Mr. Thatcher started several days ago to put the mails in [illegible] south of Salem. We learn from Homer Smith, agent of the Stage Co., that he was two days going from Corvallis to Eugene, and two [illegible] of ice in the Long Tom [illegible], he traversed [illegible], carrying the mails on his back." That is [illegible] the style over yet, [illegible] now.

[illegible] OF WHISKEY FRAUDS.—It will be remembered that a few days since our [illegible] dispatches stated [illegible] had been [illegible] to prevent further frauds [illegible] the whisky traffic. Yesterday the Collector of this [illegible] received a dispatch from the C[illegible] of Internal Revenue, as follows: "Withdrawal of spirits [illegible] any warehouse before payment of tax is prohibited [illegible] act of January 11th." This is doubtless intended to [illegible] the withdrawing spirits for the purpose of re-distillation, rectification, or transportation in bond to other [illegible], as heretofore provided by law.

[illegible] IN BANKRUPTCY.—We were [illegible] dispatch yesterday, announcing that W. Lair Hill had been nominated by the President, to the office of Register in Bankruptcy, for the District of Oregon. As his nomination was secured upon the joint request of our E[illegible] and the recommendation of a number of the leading lawyers of Portland, there can be no doubt of his confirmation by the Senate. We think the appointment one eminently fit to be made.

DOWN THE RIVER.—The news by telegraph from the lower Columbia, is to the effect that nothing has been heard from the Oriflamme. The first news we shall probably get of her will be of her arrival back to San Francisco. The Ranger is at Rainier. The Okanagan has not been seen by any of the telegraph people. Nothing has been sent concerning the vessel said to have been in tow of the Ranger when she ran into the ice below Martin's Bluff. She is probably at Rainier, also.

PASSENGERS FOR PORTLAND.—The following is a list of the passengers for Portland by the steamer Oriflamme from San Francisco, Jan. 7th: J. G. Martin and wife, D. B. [illegible] and wife, Miss Louisa Parrott, Miss O. Ankeny, J. M. Robbins, W. Waldo, Maj. R. N. Scott, U. S. A., Rev. Thos. Frazer, O. S. Murray, E. Bidwell, T. Cully, Miss T. Cully, Miss E. Cully, Pat. Smith, A. [illegible], S. A., Frankman, W. R. Peters, Jas. Schroder, W. G. Dralins and family, and 45 in the steerage.

[illegible] DEGREE TEMPLE.—The following is a list of the officers of Portland Degree Temple No. 5, for the [illegible] term: J. W. Funk, D. T.; Mrs. S. T. Stearns, D. V. T.; Frank R. Stuart, D. S.; J. M. Baldwin, D. F. S.; Mrs. R. C. Holsapple, D. T.; J. M. Hill, D. M.; Miss S. R. H[illegible], D. D. M.; F. O. Payne, D. G.; [illegible] Dougherty, D. S.; U. W. Holsapple, D. C.; A. G. Walling, P. D. T.

MAILS FOR THE DALLES.—A note from Mr. Theo. Wygant, Secretary of the O. S. N. Co., informs us that the overland mails for the Dalles and points beyond, will be sent by the Company on Thursday, the 16th. We are not advised as to the hour of starting, but presume that [illegible] will leave here at an early hour, and that the mails will be closed this evening.

THE FERRY. Should the weather be as favorable to-day as yesterday, it is expected the steam ferry boat will be got out of the ice and placed in regular service again, between this city and East Portland. If so, slips will be cut in the shore ice on either side the river for the purpose of reaching the landings. The resumption of regular ferriage will be a great convenience to the public.

EXPRESS UP THE COLUMBIA.—Mr. Briggs informs us that it is not probable the express will leave here for the Dalles and Boise, before Thursday, the 16th. The messenger, after his recent laborious trip from the Dalles will require two or three days of rest before repeating the dose.

INSTALLATION.—The following officers of Ellison Encampment No. 1, I. O. of O. F., for the ensuing term were installed last evening: C. C. Phillips, C. P.; J. N. [illegible], H. P.; Wm. Braden, S. W.; O. Bills, T.; W. G. [illegible], Secretary; H. G. Garwood, J. W.

FROM VANCOUVER.—Mr. Guild says the operator at Vancouver informed him yesterday, that the Columbia river had closed up entirely, opposite that place, during Monday night. Parties were engaged during yesterday in the attempt to cross on the ice, but we did not learn with what success.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT—DEADY, JUSTICE.—The argument in the case of Fields vs. Squires, was continued throughout yesterday. The case will probably go to the Court to-day.

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.—The Record of yesterday, announced that "the river is frozen over at Portland. This item, at least, was not obtained from the Portland papers.

CAPITOL, OLYMPIA, Dec. 11th, 1867.

DR. GROSS, Portland—Sir: I have been in the habit of using the "HENLEY ROYAL BALSAM" in my family, who reside at Wallula, Walla Walla county, W. T. I am now at Olympia, attending the present session of the Legislature, and the climate is so different from that of Walla Walla county that I have taken cold, and I have endeavored to purchase some of the medicine here but was unable to do so. Please send a bottle up immediately by mail. I have used nothing else in my family and cannot get along without it. Yours truly,

SHATTERED CONSTITUTIONS RESTORED by HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

Is a certain cure for diseases of the BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL, DROPSY, ORGANIC WEAKNESS, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, GENERAL DEBILITY, and all diseases of the URINARY ORGANS,

whether existing in MALE OR FEMALE,

from whatever cause originating and no matter of HOW LONG STANDING.

Diseases of these organs require the use of a diuretic. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity may ensue. Our flesh and blood are supported from these sources, and the HEALTH AND HAPPINESS, and that of Posterity, depends upon prompt use of a reliable remedy.

DR. G. W. COOL,
DENTIST.

THOSE WHO DESIRE FIRST-CLASS DENTAL SERVICES might do well to give him a call. He is making a NEW AND IMPROVED VULCANITE PLATE. The nature of his improvement consists in lining the entire concave surface with fine gold; it makes the plate twice as strong and one third times thinner than the common [illegible] plate. It also prevents the acids of the mouth from roughing the plate, and from turning it black, which is a common occurrence. One half of the common vulcanite plates turn black after being in use a short time, particularly where tobacco is used for smoking. His new style of plate admits of a very fine finish on the concave or palate surface. His office is the only place where such work can be had. The improvement is his own invention, for which he has received, [illegible] 3d, 1867, a patent from the United States Patent Office. He has been [illegible] this style of work for [illegible] two and a half years, and has specimens of the work which can be seen at his office. This work has given satisfaction in every case.

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER.

THE UNIVERSAL REMEDY FOR INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL COMPLAINTS!

At this [illegible] there are but few of the human race unacquainted with the merits of the Pain Killer; but while some extol it as a liniment, they know but little of its power in easing pain when taken internally; while [illegible] it internally with great success, [illegible] ignorant of its healing virtues when applied externally. We [illegible] to say to all that it is [illegible] successful whether used internally or externally, and it [illegible] unrivalled by all the great catalogue of Family Medicines, and its sale is universal and immense. The [illegible] for it from India and other foreign countries is [illegible], and it has become [illegible] in those far off places by its merits.

By Dr. Richardson's Apparatus, Lately Improved by Dr. Koehler, with Ether Spray.

WILLIAM KOEHLER,
DENTIST.

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—Southwest corner Front and Yamhill Streets, opposite E. J. Northrup & Co.'s Hardware Store.

Extracting Teeth by Dr. Richardson's apparatus, with Ether Spray, is local in its application, the tooth and surrounding parts only becoming insensible to pain. Those suffering from bad teeth can now have them removed free from pain and without the effects of inhaling chloroform, ether or nitrous oxyde (laughing gas.)

N. B.—To strangers I would say, that a constantly increasing Dental Practice for the last five years in this city, will be a sufficient guarantee for them to receive a First-Class and Finished Piece of Work. Numerous testimonials to the same can be given at the office.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS!

A Pure and Powerful Tonic,

Corrective and Alterative, of wonderful efficacy in Disease of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.

PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.

Prevents Fever and Ague and Billious [illegible];
Fortifies the System against Miasma and the evil effects of unwholesome water; Invigorates the organs of [illegible] and the bowels;
Steadies the Nerves and tends to Prolong Life.

REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Nervous Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of [illegible] arising from Bodily Weakness, whether [illegible] in the system or PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES.

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL and restorative in its nature, [illegible] into the position of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind, no deadly botanical element; no fiery [illegible], but is a combination of the extracts of rare [illegible] and plants, with the purest and mildest of all [illegible] stimulants.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated, and the appetite restored by this Tonic, and hence it [illegible] in cases of Dyspepsia, and in less confirmed [illegible] of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless [illegible] as well as upon the liver, it also invariably [illegible] the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the [illegible] and secretive organs.

Persons of [illegible] habit, [illegible] to [illegible] tions of Spirits, and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The [illegible] on this point is conclusive, and from both [illegible].

As a Genuine Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS [illegible] effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay, and Debility and Decrepitude arising from old age, it exercises the [illegible] influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-[illegible] and establish them.

Last, but not least, it is the only safe stimulant, being manufactured from sound and innocuous [illegible], and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

One Step More.

What though before me it is dark,
Too dark for me to see?
I ask but light for one step more;
'Tis quite enough for me.

Each little humble step I take,
The gloom clears from the next;
So, though 'tis very dark beyond,
I never am perplexed.

And if sometimes the mist hangs close,
So close I fear to stray,
Patient I wait a little while,
And soon it clears away.

I would not see my further path,
For mercy veils it so,
My present steps might harder be
Did I the future know.

It may be that my path is rough,
Thorny and hard and steep;
And, knowing this, my strength might fail,
Through fear and terror deep.

It may be that it winds along
A smooth and flowery way;
But seeing this I might despise
The journey of to-day.

Perhaps my path is very short,
My journey nearly done,
And I might tremble at the thought
Of ending it so soon.

Or, if I saw a weary length
Of road that I must wend,
Fainting, I'd think, "My feeble powers
Will fail me ere the end."

And so I do not wish to see
My journey or its length;
Assured that, through my Father's love,
Each step will bring its strength.

Thus step by step I onward go,
Not looking far before;
Trusting that I shall always have
Light for just "one step more."

British Messenger.

Inauguration of the Mont Cenis Summit Railway.

The line of a railway which has been in the course of construction for the last 18 months over this pass, and which follows in the main the great road of the First Napoleon, was successfully traversed on the 21st ultimo over its whole length of 48 miles by a locomotive engine. A train composed of an engine and two carriages, left the St. Michel station at 6:30 A. M. There were present the Duke of Vallambrosa; M. Fell, the inventor of the system; Mr. Brogden, a director of the company; Mr. Brunlee, the engineer, and his assistant, Mr. Bell; Mr. Blake, the agent of the company; Mr. Alexander and Mr. Barnes, locomotive engineers; Signor Copello, chief engineer for the [illegible] of the tunnel; Capt. Beaumont, R. E.; James Brogden, Mr. Jopling, Mr. [illegible] and Capt. Tyler, R. E., on the part of the British Government.

Mr. Fell's system consists of the application of a [illegible] double-headed rail placed on its side in the middle of the way and elevated about fourteen inches above the ordinary rails. There are four horizontal driving wheels on the engine, under the control of the engine-driver, which can be made by pressure to grasp the central rail so as to [illegible] the whole power of the engine, and so enable it to work upon incredible gradients without slipping. The carriages, also, have four horizontal [illegible], which, with the central rail, form a complete safety-guard. In addition [illegible] there are breaks upon the central rail. It would appear therefore impossible for the engine or carriages to leave the rails where the central one is laid.

The morning was admirably adapted for the trip, the sun shining with great brilliancy upon the Alpine peaks and the numerous glaciers which are visible in the different parts of the route. After leaving the deep valley in which St. Michel is situated, the line passes by a gradient of one in thirty the point de la Denise, where an iron bridge spans the river Arcq near the site of that which was carried away by the inundations of last year. As the little train passed the [illegible], the workmen of the Grand Tunnel of the Alps turned out en masse, and as at all [illegible] parts of the route, they were observed [illegible] and even endangering their lives for the purpose of inspecting the unusual mechanism of the engine for working on the central rail. The first very steep gradient of one in twelve was seen in passing Modane, and [illegible] appeared on the approach [illegible] to surmount; but the engine, [illegible] on this system, had always [illegible] to the task on the experimental line, and, [illegible] the central rail between the horizontal [illegible], it glided quickly up, under a pressure of steam not more than 30 lbs. to the [illegible] apparent effort. The progress was purposely slow, because no engine or [illegible] had previously passed over the line, and to give opportunity for examining the works. The damages to the road on which the line was [illegible] laid, were found to be substantially repaired by the French Government. The magnificent [illegible], and the waterfall near Fort [illegible], was much admired as the sharp curves [illegible] views while passing on the edges [illegible]. The train entered Lanslebourg station under a triumphal arch, having accomplished [illegible] of distance and attained an altitude of 2,100 feet above St. Michel.

[illegible] this point the zigzags of ascent commence, and the gradients over a distance of four miles were for the most part one in twelve. Looking [illegible] the train near the summit, as if from a [illegible] of the zigzags were visible at the [illegible] of 2,700 feet. The power of the [illegible] was satisfactorily tested in this [illegible] it was [illegible] under salvos [illegible] from an improvised battery, and amid [illegible] who had gathered to [illegible] the English on the frontier. The [illegible] to a stand under a triumphal arch, at an elevation of 6,700 feet above the level of the sea. Flags of the three nations, and a silk [illegible] presented by Signor Giacelli to Mr. Fell, waved over a sumptuous [illegible] also provided [illegible]. The hospice, the lake, and the [illegible] of the summit, surrounded by snow-clad peaks and glaciers, rising to an elevation of from 10,000 to 12,000 feet were passed, and the portion of the [illegible], at some [illegible] from the Grand Croix. The railway here follows the old [illegible] road, which was abandoned long since for [illegible] on account of the dangers from avalanches. Masonry-covered ways of extraordinary strength had here been specially provided for the railway.

The [illegible] to Susa was a series of the sharpest curves and steepest gradients, on which the central rail had been continuously laid. The Valley of the Dora, which Susa and the Convent of [illegible], and even the [illegible]. In the distance presented a [illegible] panorama, as the train wound through [illegible] round the mountain side. The [illegible] of the party on a trip which would, under ordinary circumstances have been so dangerous, was [illegible] by their crowding round all parts of the engine, from which, under a feeling of the [illegible] afforded by the central rail, they thoroughly enjoyed the ever-changing scenes as they [illegible] round the edges of the various precipices. Susa was entered amid the acclamations of multitudes of [illegible], and the party adjourned to dine at the Hotel de France.

Thus was completed a journey unexampled in its character both as respects the steepness of gradients, the [illegible] of the summit level, and the difficulty with which the curves and precipices were overcome.—London Times.

Railroad Building in Russia.—The Paris Exposition is bearing fruit quite largely in the increase of international manufacturing orders. A vessel left Havre not long since with quite a number of locomotive engines consigned to Russia. The Government is pushing ahead its material development with wonderful energy. It proposes to devote $15,000,000 in this coming year to assisting the railway system. It is said to be in negotiation with the French Creusot Iron Works for eighty new locomotives. The giant of the North works on a colossal scale.

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!

IN BRINGING THE ABOVE NAMED NEW REMEDY to the notice of the Public, the Proprietor begs to state a few facts in relation to it, as follows:

It originated in Prussia, where the science of Medicine is as thoroughly taught and practised, but owing to the poverty of its discoverer its wonderful properties were not known beyond the limited circle of his acquaintance, in which, however, it proved itself absolutely infallible in eradicating disease from the eyes.

He immigrated to this country, bringing his discovery with him, but seems to have been indifferent to the propriety of giving it general and wide spread circulation, and, as previously in his native country, seemed only desirous of using it among his friends and neighbors.

The present proprietor was one of those neighbors, and for many years was a witness to its wonderful efficacy, and, after ineffectual efforts to persuade the inventor to more widely disseminate the knowledge of its virtues, finally became himself the possessor of the secret of its preparation.

And now, while he does not deny that he hopes and expects to make money by its sale, he must yet lay claim to a desire to benefit his fellows by presenting to them a remedy which does and will cure where medical science and all experience have failed.

He wishes it to be understood that it will cure all diseases of the eye, whether of recent or long standing; but its greatest power is exhibited when it is applied to old Chronic Cases of long standing, which have resisted every other attempt to cure them, and which have been given up as hopeless and past being cured or relieved.

He asks those afflicted in this way to give it a trial, and so confident is he of its efficacy that he instructs all his agents TO REFUND THE MONEY IF IT FAILS TO CURE.

It has, within the past year, cured cases of GRANULATED LIDS, INFLAMMATION, &c., of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN and SEVENTEEN YEARS STANDING, evidence of which fact is furnished in the testimony of the following persons, living at and in the neighborhood of Harrisburg, Linn county:

ALEXANDER L. WALKER was cured of inflamed eyes, of nine years standing. Had been treated by eminent physicians during all that time without effect.

Mrs. MONTGOMERY, of Harrisburg, had inflamed eyes for over two years. For one year they were so bad that she could not work. Was finally completely cured by the Ophthalmic Panacea.

E. B. MOORE, of the firm of Moore, Garst & Baber, of Harrisburg, had granulated lids for six years.

NATHANIEL BELL, of Clackamas county, had inflamed eyes—a bad case—for over fifteen years.

ROBERT RAMPEY and W. D. PORTER, of Harrisburg; JOHN M. HOLLOWAY, of Linn County; G. R. WARD, of Lane County, were all afflicted, more or less severely, with diseased eyes, and were cured by the Ophthalmic Panacea.

All the above named persons have given lengthy testimonials to the facts as above stated, which may be seen at the proprietor's office in Harrisburg.

CARD.

DR. BARLOW J. SMITH'S WATER CURE AND Phrenological Institute, 627 Sacramento Street, San Francisco. This is the only Regular Water Cure in Francisco, where all curable diseases are treated without drugs. Dr. Smith was the first to establish a water cure on this coast, based upon the theory and practice of the New York Hydropathic College.

We have a truly healthful boarding place for men, women and children, and our prices are moderate.

The Phrenological organs plainly indicate the diseases to which any person, male or female, is predisposed.

Put this card in your hat, and when you come to San Francisco, call on Dr. Smith. He will give you consultation and a phrenological examination in regard to health. It will cost you nothing and may save you months and years of ill health and "bad luck."

Dr. Smith gives free lectures to gentlemen every Friday evening, on subjects pertaining to health, at his Phrenological Hall, 627 Sacramento Street.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies. See that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

TO THE LADIES.

The various complicated and distressing diseases incident to females, treated with eminent success. Such as Suppressions, Irregularities, Whites, Falling of the Womb, Tumors, all Urinary Diseases, Nervous Debility, Painful or Difficult Menstruation, Barrenness, etc., will be speedily cured, without poisonous drugs, injurious or unpalatable medicines of any kind. Have no delicacy in calling, no difference what your troubles may be. The afflicted are cordially invited to call and satisfy themselves.

Persons calling at Dr. Gibbon's office or sending for packages of medicines, may rely upon his assurances of confidential secrecy with implicit faith, and expect no more than to be charged with a fair, and mutually satisfactory remuneration for services rendered, considering the circumstances and difficulties of cases, rather than a too prevalent and selfish practice of extortion among quacks and pretenders.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 262.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 262 ON THE LETTER. Consultation FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.

REDINGTON & CO'S

ESSENCE OF

JAMAICA GINGER

This valuable preparation, containing, in a highly concentrated form, all the properties of the Jamaica Ginger, has become one of the most popular domestic remedies for all diseases of the stomach and digestive organs.

As a tonic, it will be found invaluable to all persons recovering from debility, whether produced by fever or otherwise, for, while it imparts to the system all the glow and vigor that can be produced by wine or brandy, it is entirely free from the reactionary effects that follow the use of spirits of any kind.

It is also an excellent remedy for females who suffer from difficult menstruation, giving almost immediate relief to the spasms that so frequently accompany that period.

It gives immediate relief to Nausea, caused by riding in a railroad car, or by sea-sickness, or other causes. It is also valuable as an external application for Gout, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc.

Sold by Druggists everywhere, and at wholesale by REDINGTON & CO., Agents for the Pacific Coast, San Francisco. ja24d7m4p

STOP THAT COUGHING

SOME OF YOU CAN'T, AND WE PITY you. You have tried every remedy but the ONE destined, by its intrinsic merit, to supersede all similar preparations. DR. J. C. YOUNG,

Medical and Surgical INSTITUTE.

* CONSULTATION, IN ALL CASES, FREE.*

* CURES GUARANTEED, OR NO PAY REQUIRED.*

* IN ALL CASES WHERE CONFIDENCE IS REQUIRED THE UTMOST SECRECY MAINTAINED.*

The above rules, established by Dr. J. C. Young in 1850, and which have done so much to secure the reputation of his Institute, are still adhered to, affording those in need of medical aid, the certainty of cure and the utmost confidence.

There is nothing of so great importance to the sick as to know where to find a physician whose skill and [illegible] give assurance of proper and delicate treatment. The Doctor would respectfully call the attention of those of both sexes who are suffering or in [illegible] to the invariable success [illegible] has marked the career of the Institute in the [illegible] years of its existence.

It is unnecessary in this connection to enumerate all the complaints treated at the Institute, but the Doctor feels it his duty to call [illegible] attention to that terrible SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

That is [illegible] with its insidious [illegible] the very life of its victims; in the treatment and cure of which the Institute has earned so enviable a reputation.

READ! READ!

I am aware that by dwelling upon so [illegible] the decay of manly vigor through [illegible] vital principle of life, the ignorant [illegible] but the desire to point out to those [illegible] and decay, the true cause of their [illegible] to be forced into [illegible] the terrible [illegible]. [illegible]

YOUNG MAN, if you experience any of the symptoms enumerated above, [illegible] which you may [illegible] health and happiness. [illegible]

[illegible]

The afflicted are [illegible].

PERSONS AFFLICTED WITH V[illegible]

During the [illegible] the Institute, the number of [illegible] been treated [illegible] in the world, and the [illegible] the course of treatment.

Without Mercury or other Baleful Drugs.

Shows conclusively the use of them to be not called for, but actually dangerous, for it is an established medical principle that those poisons, by entering the blood, ruin the constitution and life.

The Doctor effects a cure in recent cases in a few days, and finds no difficulty in curing those of long standing without submitting the patient to such treatment as will draw upon him the slightest suspicion, or [illegible] to neglect his business, whether in-doors or out, and his diet need not be changed. Cures always guaranteed, or no pay required.

IMPORTANT TO FEMALES.

When a female is in trouble or afflicted with disease, and requires medical or surgical assistance, the inquiry should be, "Where is there a physician competent to afford relief, and whose respectable standing in society will recommend him to the confidence of the community?" The Doctor, understanding how imperatively [illegible] requirements are, feels called upon to [illegible], and by calling the attention of the afflicted to the fact that he has been a Professor of Obstetrics and Female Diseases for [illegible] years, and is fully qualified to administer in all cases, both medically and surgically, not in a superficial [illegible] but in as thorough a manner as years of study and experience—both in hospitals and private families—can make, to save them from the hands of the unqualified, unscrupulous and designing. [illegible] a father. All in affliction can find in him one who can feel and sympathize with and befriend them in trouble, and in whose secrecy the utmost confidence can be placed. Consultation by letter or otherwise, free. Cures guaranteed in all weakness and trouble incidental to the sex. Private apartments are provided, when desired, where can be had all the advantages of unremitted attention of the Doctor, and the most skillful and faithful nurses.

To Correspondents.—Persons, either male or female, residing in the interior, are often deterred from consulting the Doctor because they cannot spare the time, nor incur the expense of a visit to the city. To such be it said that a plain statement of the symptoms and history bearing upon the complaint, will enable him to prescribe for them as well as if they could be cured at home. None need have any false delicacy about writing, no matter what the nature of their complaint, as the communication will be seen by no one except the Doctor, and will be treated with the utmost confidence, and either be returned or destroyed.

Consultation free.
